It is evident from the closing of the entrance that Victor Alexieff has no intention of letting his ships go to sea ngain, even against an inferior force, though this may not be the policy of Vice Admiral Skrydoff, who will determine on a plan of operations when the assumes command.

LIAO YANG, April 22.—General Kuropakin is expecting that the Japanece will con attempt to cross the Yalu. The concentration of the enemy's ferces at Wi Ju has progressed steadily. Information brought by scouts and others shows that there is more than one division there, and that pontoons are being crought up.

There was a skirmish yesterday on an island opposite Wi Ju, which the Japanese occupied in order to pave the way for the laying of pontoons. Russian troops in boats attacked and driven back Captain Sneigh, who was in comand, being badly wounded.

Marx walked slowly to the senffold with several priests, after having confessed, repented and received the last factament, as did Vandine, both men having been converted to the Roman Catholic faith following the death sentence. Marx, like Vandine, was neatly attired in black, and in the coat lapel of each was a white rose. Neidermeyer, unlike his contrades, were a rose of dark red. Marx showed no emotion while on the scaffold, and in a steady voice repeated a lituny after the priests. He fervently kissed the cruciffx, and at 11:27 o'clock was hanged. His neck was broken.

While he stood on the drop, praying and waiting for his arms to be pinioned and his legs secured, the noose 'tell from the cross piece of the gallows and dangled before his eyes. Disregarding the neose, the bandir continued praying steadily to the end. Death in his case, as in that of Marx, was immediately evident as not being due to strangulation, but to the fall, Mrs. Vandine, the mother of the last of the handi's, was at Buda, III, pleading with Governor Yates almost up to the time of the execution in the case of her son on the ground that he was an epileptic. The Governor, however, said he saw no reason why he should interfere with the sentence of the court.

This opinion was expressed hast night by Mr. James Hanratty, sporting editor of the Montreal Gazette, in answer to a overy regarding the probable outcome of the match between Dwyer and Remeete at the Acasino to-night.
"As far as I can judge," continued Mr. Hanratty, "Refnecke is in excellent physical condition, so, too, for that matter is Dwyer, but there is the possibility that the conquerer of Muldoon is a bit worn. He has had a lot of, work recently, and all of his matches have been hard ones. It is just possible that he will suffer from the effects of this. Then again there is always the possibility that will suffer from the effects of this. Then again there is always the possibility that such hard work will only serve to put a man into the best possible condition. It is a difficult matter to figure out these things, and it often occurs that small things tend to upset the most carefully prepared calculations."

No matter what the weather indications may be, the Casino, as all Richmond knows, is comfortable. All the candidates for political office have been invited to address the crowd immediately after the match. Tickets may be had down town, in order to avoid the rush, at the Carino. Washington and Lee Takes a Game From St. John's College, Annapolis.

VIRGINIA, 10; CAROLINA, 7

The Game at Chapel Hill Was Exciting, Quick and Snappy From Start to Finish.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) ANNAPOLIS, MD., April 22 .- The baseball nine of Washington and Lee College of Lexington, Va., defeated St. John's, a local institution, here this afternoon by the score of 6 to 5. The visitors bunched hits in the first, fourth and sixth innings and made two runs in each, while those of the locals were kept well scattered except in the seventh, when they scored three runs on a scratch and three singles. Stick, St. John's veteran pitcher, was on the rubbor for his team toer, was on the rubber for his team to-day, but the Washington and Lee boys had an eye on the ball and connected with his delivery for good results until Wrightson relieved him in the seventh. Johnson, pitched a steady game for the Southerners, and was able to hold his opponents down at critical times.

"Washington and Lee led the scoring in the first. Alexander, the first man up, smashed out a long one to left for a hone run. Dawson reached first on Wilner's error, and scored on Wilson's two bagger, Two more were netted in the fourth on singles by Johnson, Keliy and game last Tuesday in Farmville, in which Richmend College defeated Hampden-Sidney, came as quite a surprise.

In this game, Richmond College showed that she could play fast ball, for she rolled up a score almost twice as large as that of Virginia against the same team. Hampden-Sidney believes that she can play better ball than upon that occasion, and is determined to win from the old rival if possible. The friendly rivalry between the two colleges has now reached a great pluch, and both sides will have rooters in abundance who will support their favorites in victory or defeat.

This game is of great importance in college circles, for it depends very largely who will posses the cup for 1904. Richmond has held both base-ball and football cups for two years, and are determined to defend them to the last ditch. The other colleges are correspondingly exasperated by her continued success and this year have put forward every means to take at least the base-ball cup, so the remaining two games to be played in 10chmond have unusual interest to many or this account. The game will be called at 5:30 o'clock.

University of North Carolina—have taken place within five days of each other. Last year this cost Virgina the championship of the South, as the players were in such poor condition from the Indian game that they could not do credit to themselves in the annual battle with North Carolina. Such a contretemps will probably not occur again.

The date of the Indian game for the coming season has been advanced several weeks, and if in future Virginia is defeated by North Carolina it will not be for the reason above assigned.

Again, the Navy game, which came too early last season, will be played this year a month later.

The annual game with the University of Pennsylvania has been renewed after a lapse of two seasons, the contest to come off at Frankin Field October 1st.

The Agricultural and Mechanical College, or North Carolina, has been awarded the date which, last season was filled by Kentucky University, and Columbian University, Washington, D. C., has been substituted for St. John's College, Annapolis.
